'Kangaroo court' divides council

- Lund's motion deferred to Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities
- HRM looking into how it can avoid paying $359,550 from loan issued last year for summer concerts on Common

An "orchestrated" vote so enraged some councillors they stormed out of council chambers last night.

Earlier in the day, Coun. Sue Uteck announced she would file a motion of censure against the mayor next Tuesday. She was hoping to suspend the mayor for a day or a week as punishment for his role in the concert cash scandal.

Coun. Peter Lund made his own notice of motion to examine if the province could create legislation to make violating the HRM Charter illegal.

But in what Uteck called an "orchestrated" deal done over the dinner break, council voted to suspend the rules and deal with the motions last night instead of next week.

time, she said.

Coun. Tim Outhit and Lund left the chambers before the vote, and Coun. Bob Harvey left his seat to observe the vote from the public seating.

"I'm not participating in a kangaroo court," Outhit said in an interview last night.

"It's just absurd."

Several councillors urged their colleagues to give them time to research a censure motion that, until last night, they didn't know existed.

But Uteck's motion was voted down 17-3, with Uteck, Deputy Mayor Jim Smith and Coun. Darren Fisher voting in favour.

In an interview last night, a furious Uteck said she doesn't plan to put forward any other motions regarding the mayor's role in the concert-cash scandal.

"My colleagues have voted and they're not going to reprimand him," she said.

Kelly said the motion was debated for more than an hour.

"It's a reaffirmation that it's time to move on to other matters," he said.

Council signs off on harbour project

With a round of applause and too many thank-yous to count, the Harbour Solutions project was officially signed off at Halifax regional council yesterday.

But there were many hurdles along the way: Like the flood at the Halifax sewage-treatment plant in 2009 that caused a 17-month shutdown and $10.9 million in damage.

Carl Yates, general man-council $10.4 million was recovered through insurance.

The Dartmouth and Herring Cove sewage-treatment plants were fully completed in March.

Another negative is the public complaint that even with the plant operating, harbour beaches were frequently closed because heavy rains overflowed the system.

"We heard that, but the system operates as it was designed," said Yates. "This is common across North America that you don't treat for all combined sewers because of the cost involved."

But new government rules are coming that will restrict the amount of overflows. Yates said they're looking into options like holding tanks and better monitoring to comply with any new standards.

"It's amazing the difference in the water," said Coun. Steve Adams. "You can actually see the bottom now."

Construction on the $329.8-million Harbour Solutions project began in 2003 and is $3 million under budget.

A public rally demanding the mayor's resignation is taking shape.

Russell Gragg, spokesman for the citizens' group Step Down Kelly, said he couldn't speculate on what kinds of crowds will attend a rally next Tuesday.

"I would simply say if every HRM citizen who feels like Mayor (Peter) Kelly has acted unethically and dishonestly came out, we'd be looking at tens of thousands," he said.

Kelly said the rally is just part of democracy.

"In a democracy people are allowed to bring forth whatever views and perspectives they deem appropriate. That's why democracy is the greatest form of government," he told reporters yesterday.

Kelly has repeatedly said

A rally to demand Mayor Peter Kelly's resignation is scheduled for June 28 at 5:30 p.m. at Victoria Park on the corner of Spring Garden Road and South Park Street.

An administrator cut the cheques, and Kelly said he didn't know it was against policy.

He told reporters he won't bow to the demands of the public rally because there are too many projects going on right now, like the stadium study and the proposed convention centre.

Premier worried about effects of greenhouse gas regulations

► Suggestions were welcomed by Harper in face-to-face meeting: Premier
► 'I was satisfied that we were very well received,' he adds

Premier Darrell Dexter says he's concerned new greenhouse gas regulations being drafted in Ottawa will drive up energy costs in Nova Scotia if the federal Environment Department moves too quickly on a plan to require the closure of coal-fired generating plants.

Dexter raised the issue with Prime Minister Stephen Harper when the two met Monday in Ottawa, the premier said yesterday after attending the opening of the new Life Sciences Research Institute at Dalhousie University.

He said he told Harper his primary concern is the regulations will make it difficult for the province to gradually shut down its four coal-fired generating plants.

The sudden costs associated with quickly turning off the plants would be dumped on consumers, driving up electricity bills, he added.

"My main concern is that we could drive up costs of electricity in the province by stranding costs in coal-fired generating stations that we would be unable to recover," Dexter said.

The province's pulp and paper mills are particularly sensitive to rising energy costs, he said, giv-

"We want to make sure that we are fully engaged on the front end so that we don't get surprises that we don't want.... It's much more difficult to undo things once they've been done than to get engaged in the file early on."

Dexter said he would prefer shutting down individual generators within each plant, rather than taking plants off-line all at once.

By closing the plants in stages, the province would be able to maintain its ability to generate reserve power, he said.

Conservatives take Cape Breton seat

The Conservatives have regained their seat in Cape Breton North following a byelection.

Eddie Orrell, a physiotherapist from North Sydney, easily outdistanced his rivals yesterday to win the seat left vacant when Tory Cecil Clarke resigned to run federally last month.

Orrell finished with 3,975 votes — about 1,700 more than his nearest rival.

NDP candidate Russell MacDonald finished second with 2,265 votes while Brian McGean of the Liberals had 931 and Jonathan Dean of the Atlantica Party had 72.

'A victory'

► Tory Leader Jamie Baillie called the outcome "a victory for all Nova Scotians."

The victory returns the Tories to seven seats in the 52-seat legislature.

The New Democrats have 31 seats, the Liberals 13 and there is one Independent.

Orrell campaigned against emergency-room closures, education cuts and the need to help small businesses.

Two men convicted in Hallet shooting

Two men have been convicted of attempted murder and conspiracy to commit murder in relation to a 2008 shooting outside the IWK Health Centre.

Jeremy Alvin Leblanc, 28, and Matthew James Murphy, 26, were found guilty for their roles in the shooting at a Halifax Supreme Court yesterday.

Leblanc has been remanded into custody, where he is serving a 16-year sentence on a separate conspiracy to commit murder charge. Murphy has been released on conditions.

Both will appear for sentencing on September 22.

Leblanc and Murphy were present on Nov. 18, 2008, when Aaron Gregory Marriott, 20, fired several shots at Jason Hallet.

Hallet, who had ties to the Melvin crime family, was hit in the wrist.

Marriott was convicted of attempted murder and is currently serving a 15-year prison sentence. Another accomplice, 26-year-old Shaun Smith, was recently handed a 10-year jail term.

Tanker crash kills woman

A 33-year-old woman behind the wheel of a car that crashed into a tractor-trailer carrying thousands of litres of fuel died in hospital yesterday. The accident, which took place just before 3 p.m., closed a section of Highway 103 near Shelburne.

RCMP said the tanker, carrying 32,000 litres of gasoline and 9,000 litres of diesel, collided with a car.

Karen White of the environment department said there was a spill of fuel but a fire on the truck prevented crews from determining the amount.

The victim was identified as Ronna Goreham of Upper Clyde. The truck driver, 58, was treated for minor injuries.

Show us proof: Zinck lawyer

▶ 'Significant amount of evidence' against MLAs, Crown attorney says

@METRONEWS.CA

Trevor Zinck's lawyer said he wants to review all the evidence against his client to determine if the Crown has enough to bring the matter to trial.

Lyle Howe appeared in Halifax provincial court yesterday and requested that a full week be put aside for the preliminary hearing of the embattled Dartmouth North MLA.

Howe said committal in the case — whether or not there is enough evidence for Zinck to stand trial — is an issue.

"I definitely want to question whether there is enough evidence to take it to trial," Howe told reporters. "It's (the Crown's) onus to demonstrate that there is enough evidence, and we'd like to see them meet that burden before we head to trial."

Zinck is facing two counts of theft over $5,000, one count of fraud over $5,000 and one count of breach of public trust for alleged spending abuses.

"We wouldn't be proceeding if we weren't confident that we had enough information to go to trial," Crown attorney Andrew Macdonald said. "Our test is whether we have a realistic prospect of conviction, and we believe we have that."

Neither Zinck nor two former MLAs scheduled to appear in court — Richard Hurlburt and Russell MacKinnon, also facing expense-related charges — turned up at the courthouse. So far, their lawyers have handled each appearance.

▶ Lyle Howe, the lawyer for MLA Trevor Zinck, leaves a courtroom at Halifax provincial court yesterday.

Metallica tickets closing in on sellout

A promoter for next month's Metallica concert in Halifax says the outdoor show is heading toward a sellout.

"It's one of the strongest numbers that we've had for a show, I would say, in this area."

MacKay, who is promot-

Will and Kate's Canadian tour revealed

Prince William and his new bride, Catherine, will travel by passenger jet, bush plane, naval frigate and canoe as they tour Canada next month on their first official overseas trip since their April 29 wedding.

The royal couple will attend Canada Day celebrations in Ottawa, dragon boat races in Charlottetown, a street hockey game in Yellowknife and the Stampede Parade in Calgary on their nine-day visit.

William and Kate's official itinerary, just released, sets a busy pace for the young couple, beginning with their arrival in Ottawa June 30 and ending with their departure from Calgary July 8.

William and Cana-an Prime Minister Stephen Harper plan to make speeches at the national celebration.

There will be a video link to Canadian forces in Afghanistan.

The Duke and Duchess of Cambridge will also visit Quebec, where they'll tour a children's hospital in Montreal and attend a military ceremony in Quebec City.

In between, they'll spend a night aboard HMCS Montreal, a navy frigate, for a leisurely sail down the St. Lawrence River.

In Yellowknife, they'll board a float plane for the isolated native community of Blachford Lake, where they'll take a canoe ride before departing the Northwest Territories for the Calgary Stampede.

"This will be perhaps the largest, most-watched royal visit in Canada's history," Canadian Heritage Minister James Moore said.

RCMP launches G8-fund probe

- Investigation prompted by complaint made during election campaign
- Mounties' move comes after auditor general report into legacy fund

The RCMP is looking into allegations the Harper government misappropriated funds in order to lavish $50 million on a cabinet minister's riding prior to last year's G8 summit.

The probe comes on the heels of an auditor general's report earlier this month, which concluded the government "did not clearly or transparently" explain how the money was going to be spent when it sought Parliament's approval for a G8 legacy fund for Tony Clement's riding.

The Mounties' involvement was prompted by a complaint from former Liberal MP Marlene Jennings. She was interviewed last week by three RCMP officers.

"My sense is that they're taking it very seriously," Jennings said in an interview yesterday.

Baird shrugs at 'public relations stunt'

Foreign Affairs Minister John Baird shrugged off news of police involvement in the G8 matter.

"What this is, is a defeated Liberal candidate in the last election pulling off a public relations stunt," he told the Commons.

Former Liberal MP Marlene Jennings, who was defeated in the May 2 election, first sought an investigation in the midst of the election campaign. Her complaint was prompted by an early draft of the auditor general's report, which was leaked mid-campaign to The Canadian Press.

The early draft was much more blunt than the final version released on June 9. It concluded the government "misinformed" Parliament about the G8 legacy fund and suggested it may have acted illegally.

In an April 15 letter to the director of public prosecutions, Jennings said the government may have wilfully violated two appropriations acts and the Financial Administration Act, which stipulate that the government must disclose how it intends to spend the money when it seeks parliamentary approval for funding.

Jennings said she never heard back from the public prosecutor's office. But she did eventually receive a May 24 letter from the RCMP, advising her that "the matter is with 'A' Division Commercial Crime Section."

The day after the final auditor general's report was released, she received a call from Cpl. Ray Warner asking her to meet with him.

METRO WORLD NEWS

When it comes to sexting, women are naughtier than men, it seems.

Women are more likely to send online photos of themselves naked and engage in sexting — sending sexually explicit text messages, a new U.S.-based study suggests.

Researchers Diane Khos Wysocki and Cheryl Childers placed a survey on AshleyMadison.com, a website aimed at married people looking for sex outside marriage.

More than two-thirds of women respondents claimed they have engaged in sexting outside their serious relationship, compared to just over half of men.

► New U.S. research suggests females are the naughty ones in cyberspace.

About 77 per cent of women between the ages of 25 and 29 who were surveyed confessed to sexting.

Some 5,187 adults responded to questions about Internet use, sexual behaviour and attitudes about sexual behaviours in cyberspace, the researchers say.

"Our research suggests that as technology changes, the way people find each other and the way they attract a potential partner also changes," said Wysocki and Childers.

Weiner's lesson

- Sexting led to the ruin of U.S. congressman Anthony Weiner.
- He took lewd photos of himself and sent them to at least one woman online.
- After a weeks-long scandal he was forced to announce his resignation.
- Flirting online can be risky business for those inexperienced in the pursuit.
- "The Internet gives the opportunity to those who are not socially competent face-to-face to hide behind the anonymity," says psychologist Leila Collins from the British Psychological Society.
- "But at the same time, people should be wary of what is behind pictures and online profiles: what seems to be a 25-year-old man could actually turn out to be completely someone else."

India puts roadblock on Google street pics

Google has been barred from taking pictures of streets in India for its popular Street View service until it obtains approval from the federal government, police said yesterday.

T. Sunil Kumar, a senior police official in the technology hub of Bangalore, said the company would be allowed to resume filming only after it produces security clearances from the Home Ministry and Ministry of Defence.

"We have security concerns," Kumar said.

Opposition bristles over back-to-work bill

► Liberal leader Bob Rae says proposed law to end postal strike is 'undemocratic' ► NDP to vote against bill

Prime Minister Stephen Harper says including wage provisions in back-to-work legislation for Canada Post workers is a fair approach.

But critics and the opposition say it makes the bill biased in favour of management of the Crown corporation, which locked out its employees last week after a series of rotating strikes.

The Canadian Union of Postal Workers says the rates outlined in the bill are less than what Canada Post put forward in its final offer, effectively punishing them for exercising their right to collective bargaining.

Opposition Leader Jack Layton said yesterday the legislation sends a dangerous signal to workers that if they don't accept management terms, the government will step in and impose them.

Harper did not explain why the wages were included in the bill.

"This conflict has been ongoing and it is causing harm to Canadians who are not there at the table," he said during question period.

"We are acting in the best interest of the Canadian economy and we are also acting in a way that is fair for all the employees of the Canadian government."

The two sides were to meet yesterday to continue negotiations. Upon introducing the bill Monday, Labour Minister Lisa Raitt had said part of its purpose was to kick-start stalled talks.

JUST SAYIN' ...

PAUL SULLIVAN

oceans."

You spill your coffee in your lap and read a little more: "Multiple ocean stresses threaten globally significant marine extinction." This from an international meeting of marine scientists who say if things keep going the way they are we will suffer the kind of mass extinction that did in the dinosaurs millions of years ago.

The scientists tick off the "multiple oceans stresses": Global warming, acidification, lack of oxygen, pollution and overfishing.

The scientists call for "urgent and unequivocal action" or we're done for.

How do you deal with this stuff? Put down your toast and call 9-1-1? "Hello? The oceans are threatened with mass extinction? Can you come right away? The coral reefs are already starting to die! Hurry!"

"Some people just take their heads and bury them at the beach. Global warming? What global warming?"

That's the trouble with global warming. It's just too big to get your head around. Some people just take their heads and bury them at the beach. Global warming? What global warming? This is merely natural climate fluctuation.

Except all these scientists say it isn't. "In fact," they say, this is "unprecedented in the Earth's history because of the high rate and speed of change."

Scientists? What do they know? How about the real experts, the dissenting journalists and oil company executives — what are they saying? The guy at climate-resistance.org isn't worried. He dismisses the whole thing as The Fishy, Wispy-Washy report: "Just a couple of dozen eco-warriors in a single room, chatting about their fears."

Well, not to worry. The guy at the climate-resistance website says to chill out.

So here we sit, amidst the crumbs, trying to figure out if these greybeards are really just little boys crying wolf, or a bunch of chickens freaked out about the marine equivalent of a falling sky.

It's the same thing on the sky-is-falling front. I mean, greenhouse gases? Come on! Just a bunch of (bad) scientists trying to whip us into a frenzy in order to secure funding. Although I'm not quite sure how funding follows frenzy.

The government is no help. It keeps getting the Fossil Award for its well-known addiction to the tar sands and fracking — which is as dirty as it sounds.

Oh, well. A couple of nice summer days and all this oceans-dying stuff will be behind us. After all, we have to get ready for Kate and Wills' state visit.

I wonder what she'll wear. How do you think she'll look in a biohazard suit?

Worth mentioning

LE BOURGET, France. The plane making one of the biggest splashes at the Paris Air Show carries a grand total of one person and is often delayed because there's too much wind or too little sun.

Andre Borschberg pilots the Solar Impulse, a prototype aircraft powered exclusively by sunlight. While that has put him into the record books as the first pilot to fly 24 hours in an entirely solar-powered plane, it also causes aggravations that travellers anywhere could relate to.

Like the time it took him 16 hours to fly to Paris from Brussels — five hours to cover the distance and another 11 hours circling over the airport, waiting for wind conditions to settle down enough for him to land.

The plane has a slim dragonfly fuselage with a cockpit that fits just one pilot. Its enormous wing is entirely covered with 10,000 energy-capturing solar cells similar to the ones used in some homes, which generate about 40 horsepower, "the same as a small motor scooter," Borschberg said. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WEIRD NEWS

He should have taken the left at Albuquerque

He's healthy, well-fed and far from home. And he's quickly become the most popular attraction on a New Zealand beach. If only he could talk.

A young penguin apparently took a wrong turn while swimming near Antarctica and endured a 3,200-kilometre journey to New Zealand, the first time in 44 years that one of the creatures has been sighted there in the wild.

Christine Wilton was walking her dog Monday when she discovered the black-and-white bird.

"It was out of this world to see it," she said. "Like someone just dropped it from the sky."

Wilton said the scene on Peka Peka Beach reminded her of the 2006 movie Happy Feet, in which a young penguin finds himself stranded far from home.

The bird "was totally in the wrong place," she said.

Estimated to be about 10 months old and 80 centimetres tall, the Emperor penguin was probably born during the last Antarctic winter and may have been searching for squid and krill when it got lost, experts said. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

► Girl-Power: Britney Spears, Katy Perry, Nicole Kidman give Selena Gomez boost in new projects ► The new record — which has three songs co-penned by Gomez — is out next week

Katy Perry and Britney Spears appear on a CD together but it's not the latest Now compilation.

Rather, the pop singers have written songs on Selena Gomez & the Scene's new album, When the Sun Goes Down.

"I did have a lot of artists that I was very lucky enough to have songs written by and it's a good, uplifting album," Gomez said of her third CD. "It's really fun and very dance-y and I hope people like it."

Spears co-wrote the dance song Whiplash, while Perry co-penned That's More Like It. Singer Priscilla Renea — who co-wrote Rihanna's California King Bed and Cheryl Cole's Promise This — co-penned three songs on Gomez's album, including the lead single and Top 40 hit Who Says.

And the disc has a writing credit and guest appearance from British singer Pixie Lott.

"I think it's a powerful CD," Gomez said in a recent interview.

The 18-year-old's first two albums have reached gold status. The new record — which has three Leonardo DiCaprio and Blake Lively are still enjoying each other's company, despite rumors the new couple had already split up.

Artisanal Outaouais

► Just minutes from the madness of Parliament Hill are quaint boroughs full of country charm and local artisans ► Here you'll find seasonal cuisine and unique specialty products

GIZELLE LAU
LIFE@METRONEWS.CA

A short hop and skip over the Ottawa River, Quebec's Outaouais region offers a captivating contrast to the madness of Parliament Hill just minutes away.

Here, Gatineau often takes the spotlight, drawing visitors to its Casino du Lac Leamy and Canadian Museum of Civilization. But look beyond the high-rises and you'll find the real Outaouais.

In and around Gatineau Park, a playground to many of Ottawa's VIPs, time slows as you coast through quaint boroughs like Wakefield, Chelsea and Montebello — chock-full of country charm and local artisans, dedicated to their craft, creating some unique specialty products and experiences for locals and visitors alike.

The Artists' Studio Tour is an award-winning trail that takes visitors to the workshops and studios of many specialized local artists and craftspeople.

Meet people like Russ Zietz, a professional log builder who now creates wood art and mixed media furnishings with a creative Canadian flair, and Mud Pies Pottery's Carrie Leavoy, a potter who creates Japanese-inspired products.

For those seeking artisanal edibles, visit the Boucanerie Chelsea, where owners Line Boyer and James Hargreaves have perfected the art of smoking fish and meat. Using only sustainable fish and the sawdust left over from carving out baseball bats, the smokehouse boasts delicately flavoured smoked salmon, scallops, shrimp and tuna.

Nearby, don't miss the award-winning restaurant, Les Fougères, where seasonal cuisine gets the fine dining treatment in a country-elegant dining room, recently named one of the most romantic restaurants in Canada. Homemade cured meats, terrines and Quebec cheeses are featured alongside local produce like venison, duck and bison.

If you suffer from sensitive skin, dryness or eczema, be sure to visit the Savonnerie Olivier Chelsea, where Sonya Ann Legault makes all-natural skincare products like soap, shampoo, bath oil, baby products, makeup remover and shaving cream.

Specializing in traditional craft beers using age-old brewing traditions of the Outaouais area, Brasseurs du Temps offers anywhere from eight to 12 beers for tasting. Visitors can enjoy beer-inspired dishes like smoked meat cooked in their brew or learn about the region's heyday as a centre for jazz.

To Roundit off, experience the authentic countryside hospitality of husband and wife team, Robert Milling and Lynn Berthiaume at the Wakefield Inn & Spa. With 27 well-appointed guest rooms, a spa and fine dining restaurant, the inn retains the heritage and character of the historic mill on which it was built.

Bewitching Salem

Witchery and covens aside, there's a lot more to this thriving community than haunted happenings

Salem — the very name conjures witches. Witches hanged in the notorious trials of 1692, witch houses and covens, a Salem Witch Museum and the Witch Dungeon Museum.

This city of 41,000 souls is so closely identified with its witch history that flying witch logos adorn police cars and firefighter uniforms — and Salem High School's mascot is, shockingly, a witch.

A thriving, modern witch community practises witchcraft and even has a new public relations outfit, the Witches Education Bureau. Tourists flock to the Salem Common during the town's "Haunted Happenings," a month-long celebration of Halloween.

holds forth in a quiet, dimly lit room, where visitors who pay $65 for a 30-minute psychic reading watch as he moves his hands in graceful, fluid motions over a sparkling crystal ball.

At a nearby mall, a ghoul dressed in black, his face painted white with fake blood around his mouth, stands near a black coffin, spooking customers for a kitschy thrill near a house of horrors.

These are typical tourist encounters in this historic Massachusetts seaport. But Salem leaders want visitors to know that the city offers a lot more, and they've re-branded to promote such generic attractions as dining, the Peabody Essex Museum and the Salem Arts Festival, which recently featured "Buckaroo Bonsai" and bellydancing.

Tourism officials and business owners hope their unwitchy emphasis on other museums, sunset cruises, exceptional architecture and a rich maritime history will encourage visitors to spend more time and money in Salem.

Try a variety of mushrooms, such as portobello, cremini or button in this Marinated Flank Steak with Oyster Mushrooms dish. Serve it alongside steamed rice and bok choy or other green vegetables.

Preparation:

1 Whisk soy sauce, hoisin sauce, vinegar, sugar, 2 tbsp oil, ginger and 1 tsp of the garlic in a small bowl. Place steak in non-reactive container, add the marinade, cover and place in the refrigerator for at least 2 hours or overnight. Bring to room temperature before cooking.

2 Heat the 1 tsp oil in a large non-stick skillet over medium-high heat. Add the remaining 1 tsp. garlic and mushrooms and cook for 6 to 8 minutes, or until the mushrooms are browned and the liquid has evaporated. Preheat barbecue.

3 Remove the steak from the marinade and set the marinade aside. Barbecue the steak until it's done to your liking, turning once. Depending on how thick it is, this can take anywhere from 8 to 15 minutes.

4 While steak is cooking, whisk cornstarch into reserved marinade. Bring to a boil in a small skillet and simmer on medium-low heat for 5 minutes, until thickened. Add the mushrooms.

5 Slice steak thinly across the grain and serve with the sauce. Garnish with a sprinkle of green onions and parsley.

MATTHEW WUEST
@METRONEWS.CA

As a full-time mixed-martial artist, T.J. Grant's buddies sometimes give him the gears for what can come across as a pretty sweet gig.

Although he pours in hours of training for his UFC fights — hitting the gym twice a day, six days a week for conditioning and martial-arts development — the 27-year-old gets a friendly ribbing for the time he spends recharging his battery, a necessity in his gruelling sport.

"I have a lot of downtime, and my friends always laugh and say, 'What do you do, just play Xbox all day?'" Grant said. "But if I trained twice a day and then tried to do a bunch of stuff, I'd just be so exhausted ... Rest is really important at this level and I make sure I get as much of it as I can."

Since his last fight in December, the Cole Harbour native said he has been more focused on training than ever before. He said he knew he "had to get better" after a loss to Ricardo Almeida in UFC 124 in Montreal.

With a pivotal fight coming up on Saturday versus Charlie Brenneman (2-1) as part of UFC Live 4 in Pittsburgh, Grant is full of confidence.

"I feel like I've had the best training camp I've

Just another day in the octagon

According to the website mma-manifesto.com, T.J. Grant earned an estimated $20,000 US for three fights in 2010.

His biggest UFC payday saw him collect a beefy $65,000 cheque for winning the submission-of-the-night bonus at UFC 107 on Dec. 12, 2009, in addition to his undisclosed base salary for the bout. UFC does not publish salaries.

ever had and I feel like my timing and conditioning are at an all-time high," Grant said. "I've had a long time to work on certain things and I feel like I'm the best I've ever been."

Brenneman, a Hollisburgh, Pa., native who will be fighting in front of his home-state fans at Consol Energy Centre, was an NCAA all-American wrestler who recently signed a four-fight contract with UFC.

Grant, who has rotated wins with losses since his debut in UFC 97 in April 2009, expects a tough test but has no plans of falling into the first losing streak of his UFC career.

"I'll have my hands full, but it's going to be a good fight and I expect to win," Grant said.

Williams in tears after winning return

► Health problems had kept her from playing in a Grand Slam event for a year ► Federer, Djokovic both advance to the next round of Wimbledon

Returning to Grand Slam tennis after a year away with health problems, Serena Williams opened her Wimbledon title defence yesterday by beating Aravane Rezai in three sets — then burst into tears on Centre Court.

After serving her 13th ace to close a 6-3, 3-6, 6-1 victory, Williams buried her face in her towel and sobbed from her court-side chair. She was still crying as she left the court, overcome with emotion after enduring a long layoff that included two foot operations and treatment for blood clots in her lungs.

SERENA WILLIAMS

“I usually don’t cry ... but it’s just been so hard,” the four-time Wimbledon champion said. “I never dreamt I would be here right now. And then to win. I just wanted to win at least one match here.”

Following Williams on Centre Court was Roger Federer, who began his chase for a record-equalling seventh Wimbledon championship by beating Mikhail Kukushkin of Kazakhstan 7-6 (2), 6-4, 6-2.

Second-seeded Novak

Djokovic, playing for the first time since his 43-match winning streak was stopped by Federer at the French Open, sailed into the second round with a 6-4, 6-1, 6-1 victory over Jeremy Chardy of France.

Canadians Rebecca Marino and Stephanie Dubois advanced to the second round after posting their first career wins at the All England club.

But Aleksandra Wozniak of Blainville, Que., struggling with her comeback from an elbow injury, lost her match to Czech Barbora Zahlavova Strycova 7-6 (7), 6-4. And Frank Dancevic of Niagara Falls, Ont., squandered two match points in a 3-6, 3-6, 6-4, 7-6 (6), 6-2 loss to Brazilian Ricardo Mello. Vancouver’s Marino defeated Patricia Mayr-Achleitner of Austria 6-3, 7-6 (5).

Rematch takes much less time

The rematch of the longest match in tennis history certainly was a lot shorter.

A year after needing 11 hours five minutes spread over three days to finish a match that ended 70-68 in the fifth set, John Isner required only about two hours and a mere three sets to beat Nicolas Mahut of France in the first round at Wimbledon this time.

Isner won 7-6 (4), 6-2, 7-6 (6) yesterday.

“It wasn’t easy,” the American said, “but obviously it was considerably quicker than the last time we played.”

Isner also won their first-round marathon at the All England Club in 2010, when play twice was suspended by darkness and the match shattered all sorts of records, including most time on court, most total games, longest set and most aces.

“Nothing’s going to live up to that match,” Isner said. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

8 Last year, Isner hit 113 aces and Mahut 103. This year, each man finished with eight.

Battery in the back

The eAssist gets its energy supply from a 115-volt lithium-ion battery that's positioned behind the rear seat.

The 29-kilogram battery's compact size means that the LaCrosse's 60:40 split rear seat will still fold flat for additional storage as before (unlike some other hybrid models), but with only about a 15 per cent reduction in trunk space.

Cooling things down

Lithium-ion batteries tend to generate a lot of heat, as anyone who has ever operated a laptop computer on their lap can readily attest.

To help cool things down, an electric fan is used that draws air from a vent located on the parcel shelf behind the rear seat. According to Buick, the fan motor will not be noisy enough to disturb any passengers.

Fuel economy

Buick promises that the driving experience with the new hardware won't differ from piloting a regular gas-engine model.

But what will be different is the fuel economy rating that the LaCrosse is expected to generate: 8.01/100 km in the city and 5.4 on the highway.

Those numbers represent a significant 26 per cent improvement in city fuel economy and 16 per cent on the highway over the 2011 LaCrosse's 10.8/6.5 city/highway rating.

It's gas-sipper, sure, but it isn't a hybrid

MALCOLM GUNN
DRIVE@METRONWS.CA
WHEELBASE MEDIA

Seekers of fuel-efficient mid- and full-size luxury sedans have had little choice but to shell out a hefty premium demanded by Lexus, BMW and Mercedes-Benz for a luxury gas-electric hybrid model.

That's about to change later this year when General Motors' Buick division rolls out its 2012 LaCrosse equipped with the eAssist system. As the name implies, eAssist is an electrified helper motor that doesn't independently power the car, but kicks in when the LaCrosse is accelerating or heading up hill.

But that's only part of the story, so much so that GM avoids using the term "hybrid."

The technology begins with a 15-horsepower liquid-cooled electric motor-generator that replaces the LaCrosse's traditional alternator. Beyond providing power enrichment for the 182-horsepower 2.4-litre four-cylinder gas engine when needed, the generator also automatically shuts it down anytime the car comes to a stop.

It also cuts off the engine's fuel supply whenever the vehicle is decelerating, while maintaining power to the car's braking, steering and other electronic controls. Pretty slick stuff.

TESLA TAKES ON QUASI MAINSTREAM

AUTO PILOT

MIKE GOETZ
DRIVE
@METRONEWS.CA

Tesla, maker of all-electric vehicles, is going mainstream — or at least to Tesla's version of mainstream.

California-based Tesla arrived on the Canadian automotive landscape last year, with one model — the Roadster, a little all-electric ditty offering lots of get-up-and-go, and lots of exclusivity with its starting price of $125,000.

By next summer, Tesla will have another model — the Model S. A $57,400 luxury-sports sedan that will seat 5, or 7 with the optional rear-facing child seats. By 2013 we can expect Model X (a tall wagon or SUV kind of thing), and sometime after that, another sedan (a BMW 3 Series competitor kind of thing).

Tesla is determined to build and sell about 100,000 vehicles a year, which is more or less capacity of the former-Toyota plant (in Fremont, California) that Tesla took over last year.

► The upcoming Model S, and future sale tactics expected from Tesla are almost — but not quite — a move toward mainstream.

This sounds like mainstream volume, but don't be fooled. Tesla isn't interested in anything mainstream. The technology of the cars isn't mainstream, and either is how it intends to market and sell and service its growing volume.

We caught up with Tesla's main man in Canada, Hans Ulstrup in Toronto. While the Model S concept looks pretty fetching, Ulstrup assured me that the production car "looks even better."

Tesla Canada's first sales facility will be located in Toronto later this year, but don't go looking for it where dealerships usually congregate, like in those big, sprawling "auto malls" just outside the city.

Ulstrup said the showroom will be in one of the premier shopping malls in the GTA. And for style and feel, he said, "Think Apple Store..."

The same sales executive behind Apple's infiltration into the malls is behind Tesla's retail strategy — George Blankenship. Tesla Santana Row was the first such store (San Francisco), followed by Tesla Park Meadows is the second (Glendale, Colorado).

This calls for separate service facilities. Toronto's service facility opened just this week, near the airport. Tesla Service also does house calls. According to Ulstrup, other key Canadian cities for Tesla are Montreal, Calgary and Vancouver. (All around late 2012, or early 2013.)

You can now reserve a Model S, with a (refundable) deposit. The first 2,000 will be special "Signature" editions. Ulstrup noted that half of the 200 Signature models ► Simple procedures like regular oil changes allow drivers to drive their vehicles longer.

It's no surprise that consumers are keeping their automobiles for longer periods than before, but according to a study performed by the survey gurus at R. L. Polk & Co., Canadians are keeping their cars on the road longer than ever before.

Forty-three per cent are still on the road today after 15 years, up from 28 per cent in 2000. That's why it's important to protect the investment in your car, which can mean the difference between trouble-free driving and costly repairs.

Change your oil

A regular oil change is the service most likely to help prolong the life of your vehicle.

Changing the oil (not just topping it off) and using a high-quality motor oil that meets the specifications recommended by your vehicle's manufacturer helps your engine get the protection it needs.

- Check the oil level regularly and change the oil at the intervals outlined in your owner's manual.

- Replace the oil filter with every oil change.

Monitor your vehicle's fluids. Engine oil is not the only fluid your vehicle needs to run properly. Check your owner's manual to find information about where fluids are contained, how to check them, the type your vehicle uses and how much should be in each "reservoir."

If you see drops of fluid under your vehicle, you should be able to identify them by color or consistency. A few small drops are probably not a cause for concern, but you should take note of small puddles.

- If the fluid is green, pink, yellow or fluorescent orange, it could indicate a cooling system leak or an overheating problem.

- If the fluid is dark brown or black, it is most likely engine oil. The engine could have a bad seal or gasket or a loose oil filter.

- A red oily spot means you probably have a transmission or power steering fluid leak.

- A small puddle of water is usually normal and is simply condensation from the air conditioning system or the defroster.

Bank on family-ready versatility

► Compass with manual gearbox will be the safest bet

SECOND GEAR

JUSTIN PRITCHARD
DRIVE@METRONEWS.CA

Though the Jeep Compass wasn't a diehard mud-slinger like its siblings, it intended to attract a new buyer to the brand with its fuel efficiency, city-friendly sizing and promise of affordable adventure.

All models got standard four-cylinder power and front wheel drive. The larger, 2.4-litre, 172-horsepower engine is typically preferred. Compass could be fitted with an "intelligent" AWD system that featured a driver-lockable centre differential for enhanced traction. Transmission choices were a manual five-speed box or a Continuously Variable Transmission (CVT).

Look for features like heated seats, Bluetooth, premium audio, a sunroof and multimedia connectivity. A household power outlet was also available, and split-folding seats enhanced cargo capacity when required. Sizing was in the same ballpark as a Toyota Matrix, Dodge Caliber or Mazda 3.

End of the day, compact driving dynamics, fuel effi-

What's the 4-1-1

- Model: 2007 to 2010 Jeep Compass.
- Vehicle type: Compact crossover/4x4.

► 2010 Jeep Compass North Edition

ciency and versatility moved the Compass from dealer lots more than off-road prowess, though Compass was capable of light to moderate off-road work as needed.

What owners like

Manoeuvrability, flexibility, all-season traction with 4x4 models and styling, all seem to be rated positively by the majority of Compass owners. Car-like ride quality, the up-level stereo and fuel mileage were also praised.

What owners dislike

Owner-stated complaints tend to centre around cheap interior plastics, sluggish performance from models with the CVT transmission, road noise, blind spots and limited ground clearance and off-road abilities.

Common issues

When test-driving a used Compass, "listen" to the vehicle's front end for signs of clunking, popping or grinding sounds while steering or travelling over bumps. Unwelcome noises could indicate a worn-out suspension component, and numerous owners have reported premature wear of these parts. Driveability issues with the CVT transmission, including reduced or sluggish acceleration, could be a computer-related problem fixed by rebooting or re-flashing the vehicle's computer brain. Grinding sounds from the CVT transmission, or a bucking or "jerking" sensation when decelerating, could be signs of trouble. Opt for a manual-equipped model where possible.

Finally, check the ceiling liner around the map lights, as well as carpeting in the front footwells for signs of moisture — which could indicate a leaky sunroof or drain tubes.

The verdict

Low resale values, good mileage and family-ready versatility will be the primary draws to the Jeep Compass in the used market. Shoppers seeking out a model with a manual transmission and a clean bill of health from a Chrysler-trained mechanic should enjoy fairly solid reliability and affordable all-season driving confidence.

Putting more Sport into a sporty car

Many cars have 'Eco' buttons to help maximize fuel Some you just click 'Sport' option for special features

DRIVING FORCE

JILL MCINTOSH
DRIVE@METRONEWS.CA

It used to be that if you wanted to make your car sportier, you had to get out the wrenches. Today, with the electronic systems on many cars, you simply need to push the "Sport" button on the console.

Depending on the vehicle, activating the button might increase the steering resistance, change the throttle response or the transmission's shift patterns, adjust the shock absorbers or vary the exhaust.

"Our cars have numerous options and it depends on what is fitted to the car," says Laurance Yap, manager of public relations for Porsche Canada. "The more stuff on the car, the more the sport button does."

Traditional power steering relies on a hydraulic pump, but several new models have a combination of hydraulic and an electric motor, or completely electric-assisted steering.

"The electro-hydraulic steering gives you more assist at lower speeds, gradually dialing it back at higher speeds," Yap says. "When you hit the Sport button, it gives you less assistance all across the board. We want that because it feels a bit heftier, with a bit more feel through the steering wheel."

When activated, the Sport program quickens the engine's response to your foot on the throttle. "You get more power earlier by pushing down less on the pedal, making it feel faster," Yap says. The engine can't make any more power in Sport mode, but it delivers it quicker. The automatic transmission also adjusts, holding each gear longer, keeping the engine at higher r.p.m., and locking out the higher, fuel-efficient gears — which is why cars tend to use more fuel in Sport mode.

If the suspension contains adjustable dampers, the Sport mode makes them stiffer, which improves handling. It also makes the ride firmer, but that's part of the fun. If there's an optional air suspension, the Sport mode will lower it to make the car more aerodynamic.

Finally, if it's a Porsche equipped with a special "sport" exhaust, there's one more benefit.

"It will open a flap in the exhaust to make it louder," Yap says.

"It doesn't give you any more power, but it makes it louder." And to a sports car fan, that definitely makes it better.
